THE ALBUM

Djinn's debut with five guest artists.

Singer, producer and songwriter Djinn presents his debut album, Just a Thought, released in UK stores on 18 June 2007.

Created with German record producer Tom Linden under their shared production name, The Godfathers, the album brings together personal storytelling, a mellow groove and a sound Djinn calls E-Vibe: Eclectic or Eastern Vibes.

Music with a message.

The story behind the sound

Born in Oxford, Djinn moved to Pakistan at the age of five. An upbringing shaped by Eastern spirituality and a natural love of music helped form the unorthodox creative outlook that runs through Just a Thought.

After returning to the UK in 1992, he sang in school bands and became involved in community music projects. DJ work helped fund his development as an artist, before he moved into collaborations with producers in London. Still searching for the sound he wanted to create, he went on to complete a degree in Computer Science and Music Technology and develop his own production skills.

His work grew to include projects for film, television, radio and other media, alongside artist development. A collaboration with Mukhtar Sahota on the charity project Donasian introduced him to a wider audience on the Asian music scene.

Meeting Tom Linden brought a new creative partnership. Their combined production approach gave shape to the smooth, mellow sound of E-Vibe and laid the foundation for Djinn's debut album.

Five voices. Different perspectives.

Sonia Panesar, Mehi, Manifest, Sumeet and Quest (Black Caz) join Djinn across the album. Each was chosen for the strengths they could bring to its message, with songs intended to connect differently as listeners move through different phases of life.

The original release campaign reported regular airplay on BBC Radio 1 and BBC Asian Network, alongside in-depth interviews exploring the idea of "Music with a Message".

At its heart, Just a Thought is a musical diary: an insight into a life shaped by difficult experiences, resilience and the determination to keep moving forward.

The sound of the scars. The strength to keep walking.
